Embezzler Offers No Defense to Grand Larceny Indictments-Asks Clemency.

ACCUSED OF FORGERY.

Will Also Plead Guilty to This and Is Remanded for a Week Before Sentence.

Charles C. Chipp, fifty-one years old of No. 22 West One Hundred and Eighth street, book-keeper in the tax department of the Comptroller's office, who was arrested recently on a charge of larcen's when his defalcations were said to amount to $30,000, pleaded guilty today before Justice Foster in Part 1. Gen-eral Sessions, to four indictments charging grand larceny in the second degree.
A fifth charge of forgery in the third degree will be flied to-day, to which In-risoner, said that his client wished to plead guilty, and asked for elemency. Chipp had been employed in the de-partment since 1882. He commenced to steal in 1891 and stopped in 1809. The special charges on which he pleaded guilty were to taking the following amounts: On April 18, 1898, $201.65; Nov. 17, 1898, $271.75; Feb. 16, 1898, $234.69, and June 14, 1898, $242.50. At the request of his counsel Chipp was remanded for sentence for one At Very

THAT ANTI-FLIRTING BILL.

Assemblyman Bennett Dentes Pa- From ternity of the Measure.

Special to The Evening World. to play a joke on a legislative friend, Assemblyman W. J. Bennett, of New York, has been erroneously accredited during the past three days with having introduced a bill to prevent flirting in public places. Assemblyman Landon, the real author of the bill, is a close friend of Mr. Bennett. When the Landon bill was introduced the author's name was written hurriedly and was hard to decipher. It resembled the name of Bennett more than it did that of Landon, and the press associa-tions and newspaper correspondent mistook it for Bennett. It wasn't long before Bennett was be ing interviewed. After denying the authorship to one or two rural correspondents Mr. Bennett got tired. When a newspaper man approached thereafter and asked him about his anti-firring bill he waved him off in dignified slience. "It was a first rate joke on Landon at first," sad Mr. Hennett to-day. "The text of the Landon bill is on the statute books to-day, and and
